

Todd Yates/The Houston Post

Lunch with Warren Moon

About 1,000 Realtors and other guests gathered at Lake Olympia to celebrate the planned waterfront community's 10th birthday celebration and tour the estate of newly-traded Oiler Warren Moon.

To be sure, Moon's trade was the talk of lunch at tables in his yard, (top left photo.) Later, Moon told the gathering he was happy to call Lake Olympia home and that he planned to stay.

Realtors toured the Fort Bend County lake's neighborhoods and were asked to "eat the house they wanted to sell" from what was billed as the "world's largest master planned community birthday cake." Behind cake, (top right photo), are, from left, Tonya Frazier of Stewart Title; Susie Mahoney, sales and marketing director for Lake Olympia; Andrew Choy, developer; Carol Hill, Stewart Title and Gloria Wilkins, president, Fort Bend Association of Realtors.

Lunch was served under a large tent (bottom left photo) and Realtors were given an opportunity to meet some of Lake Olympia's custom builders. Three of the builders (bottom right photo) attending were Dudley Porter of Porter Homes, Dan McMenemy of Lake Olympia and Pat Harrington of Harrington Homes.

